As We Step into the Future Together, CSA Will Be Here for Those in Need

Over the past few years, we have seen the community come together to help one another throughout the acute financial crisis generated by the pandemic. CSA pivoted and adapted to quickly distribute relief to those short on food, housing insecure or otherwise in economic distress, with the help of local cities and generous donors, many of whom contributed for the first time or increased their longstanding levels of support.

Helping our neighbors in need through difficult times is not new for CSA. For 65 years, CSA has served the low-income, unhoused, and senior members of the community of Mountain View, Los Altos, and Los Altos Hills. From serving migrant farmworkers in the early days to fighting the impacts of economic crises ranging from stagflation to the dotcom bust to the Great Recession, CSA has been there for those in need every step of the way.

While the pandemic has waned, the community need has not. In fact, in several programs, CSA is serving more people than ever before, providing critical services for the elderly, working poor, and unstably housed.

As supporters, we cannot walk away from the need when it is so urgent and critical.

While we don't know what the future will bring, we do know that with your help, CSA will be here for this community. As we look ahead to CSA continuing to serve as the community safety net, the need for funds will grow to meet increasing demand as well as to update aging infrastructure.

On the CSA Board of Directors, we are focused on guiding the agency into the future sustainably. To do so, we rely on the ongoing generosity of this community to help those facing the unexpected as well as others managing ongoing difficulties. We deeply appreciate your past support in service of those most in need and hope you will walk with us along the way as we step into the future together.

Fiscal Year 21-22 saw lingering impacts of the pandemic plus sky-high inflation and fuel prices, leading to challenging circumstances for CSA's clients. In fact, CSA faced increased demands for services across nearly all programs, with a 47% increase in individuals served among our most vulnerable client population, those experiencing homelessness. With the support of our community, we have met and continue to meet the significant need.

Homeless Prevention Services (HPS)

CSA served 1,903 households, totaling over 5,000 men, women and children in Fiscal Year 21-22. This number is above the already high numbers served last year, in the most challenging phase of the pandemic. HPS served over 400 households with rental, utility, or direct financial assistance totaling approximately $1.6 million, still well above the norm for a pre-pandemic year. The data shows that while the pandemic may be waning, the needs of our clients are not.

There has been no break for staff even as the pandemic has waned. Yet they have risen to the challenge every step of the way, meeting staggering community need with compassion and professionalism every day, making me proud to be a leader at CSA.

Food and Nutrition Center

CSA's Food and Nutrition Center continued to offer pre-bagged groceries distributed outdoors in the parking lot to maintain Covid safety protocols. Mobile pantries at local schools and parks were reinstated this year, which led to an increase in utilization of food services. Overall, CSA provided nutritious groceries to 3,610 individuals, a 34% increase over the previous year. Children comprised one-third of those receiving food.

I am extremely grateful that this agency provides opportunities to help keep families afloat especially during times like these. Every staff member I have encountered has been so helpful and caring. I am beyond appreciative.

Outreach and Engagement Program

The Outreach and Engagement Program provides access to information about CSA programs and services and reached 2,186 individuals through 88 outreach events last year. It also provides client support for services in three areas:

1. The Community Resource Navigator Program
2. English Language Learner Case Management
3. The Covid-19 Positive Relief Team

Together, the program helps mitigate barriers that CSA faces with potential clients by establishing trust and familiarity directly in the community, especially critical among the undocumented population which is often fearful about accessing services.

Senior Services Program

The Senior Services Program saw continued high demand for case management and other services to meet basic needs and combat isolation experienced by seniors in the community, resulting in a 10% increase in overall caseload. Some services returned to normal after a pandemic-related pause. Ten ever-popular social events featuring flower arranging were held at Senior Living Communities in the area. Case managers continued to offer critical services that did not stop during the pandemic, such as driving seniors to medical appointments.

For several years, my case manager has seen to it that I have transportation to medical appointments. I can't imagine how I would have managed without her dedicated support. I count her among my blessings.

Senior Nutrition Program

CSA's Senior Nutrition Program (SNP) continued to serve lunch five days a week at the Mountain View Senior Center, operating as a drive-through program due to pandemic safety concerns. In Fiscal Year 2021-22, the SNP saw an increase of 23% in meals served above already higher than usual numbers due to increased demand during the pandemic.

I have been volunteering at CSA for about two years now, and I have seen a lot of changes throughout the pandemic. What makes me want to volunteer is that I get to give back to my community and see the positive work we do. When people come in for groceries and stop to say hi, that makes me smile because I made a difference in someone's day.

CSA Welcomed the Community to a Re-Imagined Empty Bowls

CSA held our first in-person event since the start of the pandemic in April 2022, our Empty Bowls fundraiser benefiting the Homeless Services Program. Baskin Robbins donated ice cream for the event, which was held at Rengstorff Park on a beautiful spring day. Community members were delighted to enjoy ice cream and select a bowl handcrafted by the Orchard Valley Ceramic Arts Guild while socializing in person again after a three-year hiatus.

CSA's Legacy Circle

CSA formalized our legacy giving program, known as CSA's Legacy Circle, this year. This program will allow our services to continue for generations to come. We would like to thank the founding members of our Legacy Circle, listed below, and encourage others to join them in naming CSA as a beneficiary of your estate.
